Sirius Astrology Software Cracked 162 Sirius Software, LLC announces that it has secured several major bug fixes, a new algorithm update to the software for the upcoming year 2019 and a large update to its customer service system. The company also announced it is proud to be able to provide over 5 years worth of support for Sirius astrology software through its newest release. The customer service system was expanded from once a day live chat sessions with staff members to twenty four hours daily support through email and phone calls. In addition, Sirius introduced forty two new feature requests from customers into the development process. This year's new version will also feature over eighty percent of the requests already integrated into the program based on the customers feedback. The company introduced a new algorithm to its software which provides customers with more accurate predictions, along with information that is not published to the public. The current algorithm has been used for two years and is credited for helping many customers make important decisions, such as who they should marry, what new business ventures they should pursue, and which opportunities they must pursue in life. The algorithm uses psychological principles to predict people's choices based on their personality traits. The software is being released in a new packaging that will have an early bird special. The package comes with a free lifetime subscription, access to the customer service system, and the company's newsletter. In addition to Sirius astrology software, the company offers a mobile application for both iOS and android users so they can have instant access to their horoscope on their smartphones or tablets. The application can be found in the Apple App Store or by using Android's Google Play store. The Sirius astrology software includes two different types of charts; Solar return charts for people who were born between 1901 and 2100 and natal charts which calculate information for people who were born after 1900 (from 1901 to 2200). Sirius has offices in the United States, Australia and Sweden. The company was founded in 2005 in Charlotte, North Carolina by Martin Spence and currently operates in both the United States and Australia.

Sirius Software, LLC was established by Martin Spence under license of his long term partner Steve van den Berg. The company is based out of the USA but also maintains offices in Sweden, Australia and the Netherlands. Martin Spence is a world renowned astrologer known for his work with New Age magazines such as Psychic Power magazine, Love Lines magazine and Astrology magazine. Martin has also had copies of his books published by major publishers in the United Kingdom, Germany, Australia and the United States.

Sirius offers a wide range of products to its customers ranging from software to horoscopes. Sirius Software offers its customers the ability to download their own charts based on their birth information. The charts are available for purchase every year starting with the year 2000 until 2020. The charts are available for people born anywhere in the world including Europe, South America, Africa, Asia, Australia and North America Sirius Sirius Software offers over 5 years worth of support for its software through Sirius customer service representatives who are all experts in astrological studies.
